

June 30th, 2009

Communities in Bloom - Campbell River Has Great Community Involvement!

The National Communities in Bloom judges will tour the City of Campbell River on Friday, July 24th, 2009 to judge the City, commercial, residential, service club, non-profit, church and school groups on Community Involvement.

The judges will be learning about citizen's involvement in various community projects such as the Campbell River Residential and Business Garden Contest, the Banner Project, Canada Day Celebrations, Habitat for Humanity and many more!

The list of Community Involvement is endless and it will be hard to showcase everything to the judges, but they will definitely get a feel for Campbell River's volunteer spirit! At the Meet and Greet on Thursday evening local youth from Campbell River Scouts, the Carihi Green Team, Leaders-in-Training and the Youth Advisory Commission will showcase some of the great volunteer work that youth are doing for Campbell River. On Tour Day, the judges will get a chance to meet many local volunteers who contribute enormously to the community.

Can you be involved? Yes! Here's how:

Businesses, Residents, Service Clubs,
Schools, Churches, Non-Profits

- Let us know about your community involvement projects
- Send photos from community events for the Judge's Community Profile Binder to:
Lynn Wark, CIB Committee Staff Liaison, at lynn.wark@campbellriver.ca
- Offer to showcase your community involvement project to the judges on Tour Day (Friday, July 24th)

Anyone interested in helping to prepare Campbell River for the Communities in Bloom competition is invited to attend the next Communities in Bloom Committee meeting.

-30 -

Contact: Lynn Wark, City of Campbell River Parks Office 250-286-7275.

