

June 26, 2012

Pay parking back at the Campbell River Airport – First hour free!

Pay parking returns at the Campbell River airport July 9.

Pay parking is in effect for all passenger vehicles; but the first hour is always free for dropping off or picking up passengers.

For longer parking, fees are:

- $5 for the first 12 hours
- $8 for the first 24 hours
- $40 per week
- $100 per month
- $600 per year

The new parking meter runs on solar power and accepts either credit cards or coins for payment – or pay with your smart phone through “tele-pay.”

“The Airport Authority is interested in receiving public input on the viability of long-term, unsecured, free parking in a location away from the terminal building. Please go to the CR Airport Facebook page to give us your input,” says Airport Authority chair Susan Sinnott.

– 30 –

Contact: Susan Sinnott, Airport Authority

250-923-5012

Photo: Don't plug the meter if you're parking for less than an hour at the Campbell River airport. Pay parking is in effect as of July 9, but the first hour is always free!