City announces general manager resignation

After 15 years with the City of Campbell River, Laura Ciarniello, general manager, corporate services has resigned to take on a general manager position with the District of Saanich at the end of September.

"We are sorry to see Laura leave and will miss her extensive managerial skills and knowledge of the organization as well as her unfailingly positive attitude and immense work effort," says City Manager Andy Laidlaw. "We wish her well in her new position."

Departments reporting to Ciarniello's corporate services portfolio include: Communications, Finance, Human Resources, Information Technology and RCMP administrative staff.

Ciarniello came to Campbell River in 1998 as human resources manager and became corporate services general manager in 2010.
