WINTER BURNING TIPS

Winter wood smoke is one of the largest sources of fine particulate air pollution. Exposure has been linked to adverse health effects and decreased life expectancy. Following Burn it Smart principles for using wood as a fuel can help reduce neighbourhood air pollution - so we can all breathe a little easier.

TIP #1

Enjoy the fire not the smoke:

There's nothing like a wood fire on a cold, wet winter night but if your chimney is sending smoke signals, you're losing valuable heat, forming creosote and reducing neighbourhood air quality.
