More options for businesses at the Campbell River Airport with high-speed Internet

Airports tenants and the industrial properties surrounding the Campbell River Airport (YBL) now have more options for high-speed Internet access to support their business.

TELUS connected their enterprise level network to the Campbell River Airport earlier this year, and Shaw Communications connected their high-speed broadband Internet to the airport lands at the end of September. North Island Communications will act as the service provider to distribute high-speed Internet access to airport tenants.

"There are many advantages to operating a business near the Campbell River Airport, and the Airport Authority welcomes the opportunity to work with existing businesses and introduce new businesses to YBL," says Susan Sinnott of the Airport Authority.

Find out more about how to start or support your business at the airport by contacting the airport manager at 250-923-5012, or email tyler.massee@campbellriver.ca.

Also, the City of Campbell River is accepting applications to volunteer with the Airport Authority for a three-year term.

Candidates should be able to demonstrate knowledge and experience in the aviation industry, economic development, governance or governmental finance or operations. Positions are open to local and regional candidates.

Drop off your application at City Hall or email to tyler.massee@campbellriver.ca by Oct. 19.
