"two family dwelling"

means a building comprising two self-contained dwelling units, but does not mean a detached dwelling containing a secondary suite.

3. Severability

Each portion of this Bylaw is intended to be independent to the extent that its invalidation by a court does not affect the validity of any other portion.

4. Payment of development cost charges

- a. A person who applies for approval of a subdivision or for a building permit for the categories of development listed in Schedule "A" must pay the applicable development cost charge prescribed in Schedule A at the same time the person's subdivision application is approved or building permit is issued.
- b. For a comprehensive development
 - i. development cost charges must be calculated separately for each use that is part of that comprehensive development, in accordance with Schedule A, and
 - ii. the development cost charge payable equals the sum total of the development cost charges calculated for each separate use.
- c. Subdivision applications that create lots with the potential for more than one (1) dwelling unit will be charged DCC's at the detached dwelling rate at the time of subdivision approval. Additional DCC's charged at the attached dwelling or clustered housing rate will be payable at time of building permit issue for cluster housing development or for construction of a building with more than one self-contained dwelling unit.
- d. For properties that are divided by the Quinsam Heights boundary. DCC will be charged based on direction of stormwater discharged. Development with City approved stormwater management plans that direct water into the Quinsam Heights area will be charged DCC's including the Quinsam Drainage DCC. Those developments with City approved stormwater management plans that direct water away from the Quinsam Heights area will be charged DCC's without Quinsam Drainage DCC.

5. Exemptions from payment

Section 4 [payment of development cost charges] does not apply in the circumstances described in sections 933(4) (a) [places of public worship], 933(4) (c) [building permit value of $50,000 or less] and 933(4.01) [dwellings of 29 square metres or less] of the Local Government Act.

6. Payment by Installment

Notwithstanding section 4, development cost charges due and payable in excess of $50,000 may be paid in installments, as follows:

- (a) a developer that elects to pay a development cost charge in installments must pay the development costs charge in full within two years after the date of final approval on the subdivision, or granting of the building permit, by paying not less than:
 - i) one-third of the total charge at the time of either final subdivision approval or granting of the building permit; and
 - ii) one-half of the balance within one year after the date of either final subdivision approval, or granting of the building permit; and
 - iii) complete payment of the total charge within two years after the date of either final subdivision approval or granting of the building permit.
- (b) where the developer elects to pay the development cost charge in installments, and payment is not received in accordance with the above schedule, the total balance becomes due and payable immediately.
- (c) no interest is payable on the unpaid balance of a development cost charge until it becomes due and payable, but when it does, it is a condition of election under this section that interest is payable from that date until payment at the rate or rates prescribed under Section 11(3) of the Taxation (Rural Area) Act for the period of non-payment.
- (d) a developer electing to pay a development cost charge by installment must deposit with the Municipal Treasurer at the same time as the developer pays the first installment;
 - i) an irrevocable letter of credit from a Schedule A Chartered Bank which maintains an office in Campbell River; or
 - ii) a security duly assigned;which ensures to the satisfaction of the Municipal Treasurer that upon default, the balance of the unpaid charge will be recoverable from the person, the Chartered Bank, or from the proceeds of the realization of the security, as the case may be.
