

DAMAGE TO CITY INFRASTRUCTURE AGREEMENT

BYLAW NO. 3899, 2023

Home-owners and builders are responsible for ensuring that the City of Campbell River infrastructure is not damaged during construction. This includes but is not limited to damage to curbs, sidewalk, water valve risers, water metres and cleanouts and actively protecting the storm drain system from deleterious materials. Any damage found by City staff following the start of construction will be deemed to be your responsibility. You, as the home-owner or builder, are responsible for actively protecting the City of Campbell River infrastructure including but not limited to placing protective materials and barriers around City infrastructure and by strictly adhering to sediment control procedures.

It would be advisable to inspect your property, the adjacent public boulevard, and the downstream catch basins for damage prior to taking control of the property or applying for a building permit. In the event that you find a problem, you should document it and inform the City's Development Services Department immediately by contacting (250) 286 5757 or building@campbellriver.ca.

Damage to individual utilities such as BC Hydro, Telus, Shaw, or FortisBC should be reported immediately to the respective utility company as well as the City's Development Services Department.

After reviewing the above information, please indicate one of the following by completing the following:
